

Washington in Sp

In green pastures just outside the city cattle graze peacefully in the warm sunshine.

Benches outside the Carnegie library are popular on warm days. (Harris & Ewing)

On downtown streets the maidens draw attention from all. (Harris & Ewing).

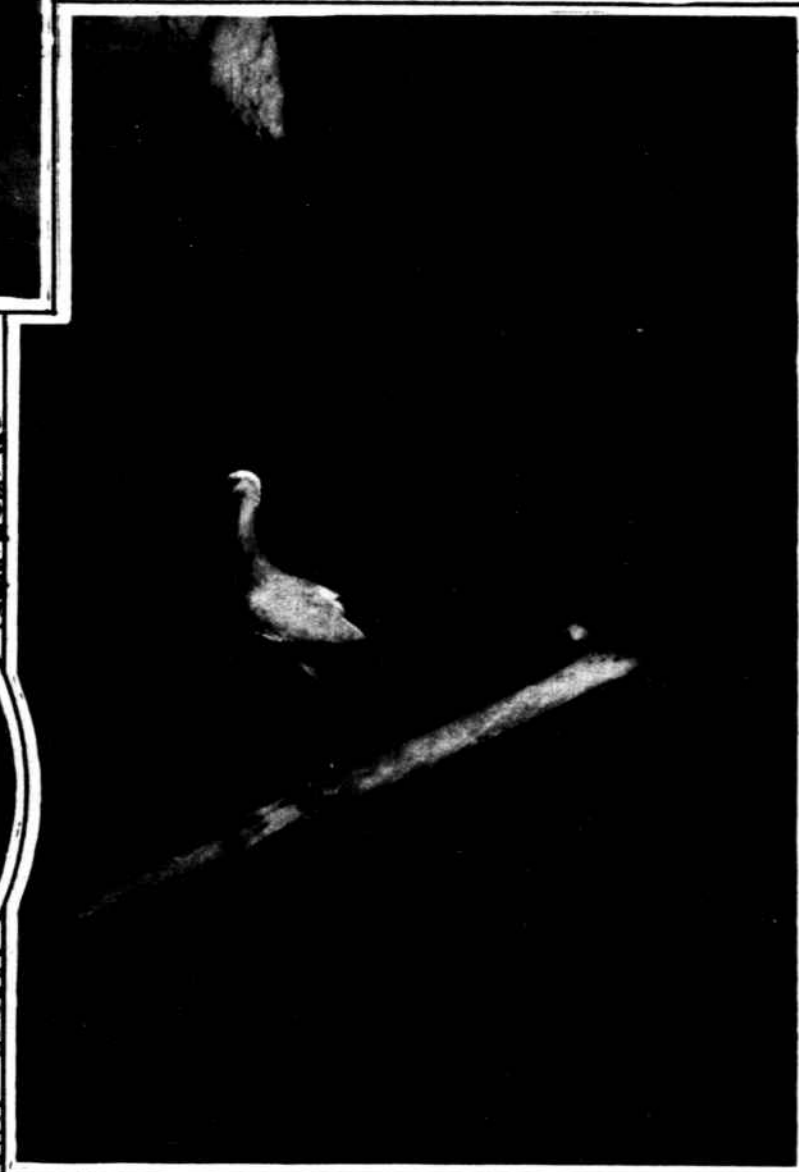

At Dupont Circle the kiddies are enjoying themselves in the sandpile once more. (Harris & Ewing).

These children look mystified and a trifle angry at the cameraman. (Harris & Ewing).

It is ideal weather for the government workers to enjoy their lunches out-of-doors. (U & U)

At the Zoo the stork is lord of all he surveys these days. (International).

The little boys and girls gambol on the great District parks. (Harris & Ewing).

High school seniors come from far and near to peek at the wonders of the White House grounds in springtime. (Harris & Ewing).

Nursemaids congregate at Dupont Circle each afternoon with wide-eyed and wondering charges. (Harris & Ewing).

